held here by Thomas D. Wagner, 11, of 6631 Parkside drive, Tinley Park, is more than knee-high and will be up to an elephant's eye in due time. The cornfield is south of Tinley Park.

Mokena Voters Form Park District

Establishment of a Mokena park district was approved by the voters of the area in a special referendum last Saturday, June 27. The proposition carried almost two to one, the final official returns being 267 for the district and 144 against.

At the same time the voters also elected five park commissioners as follows:

Charles J. Swanberg, Mrs. Hugo (Florence) Niethammer, George F. Carlisle, all of Mokena, and Clarence Lauffer and Edwin W. Yunker, from the farming area.

There were nine candidates for the five places and votes polled by each were:

Swanberg	227
Niethammer	272
Carlisle	204
Lauffer	175
Yunker	174
A. O. Omland	160
G. R. Bennett	140
C. H. Bills	130
K. W. Sherwood	74

County Judge John C. Cowling had the vote canvassed Monday and will sign an order declaring the district formed and the park commissioners elected as soon as it is presented by Attorney Raymond Hoolehan, who has been handling the legal work.

The commissioners have 30 days in which to organize. They will draw lots to establish the length of terms each will serve. Eventually all terms of commissioners will be six years.

When the board is organized it will name a secretary and treasurer; make out an appropriation ordinance and its first tax levy. The maximum tax rate, without a referendum, is eight cents per $100 assessed equalized valuation.

Those who headed the movement for a park district have expressed the opinion that the tax levy will require but a small portion of the rate allowed by law.

The Mokena Civic Association, which holds title to Mokena Community park, is prepared to deed the property over to the new park district. There are approximately 28 acres in the park with a valuation of about $10,000.

In addition to acquiring and operating a park system, a park district can also finance recreation programs.

Establishment of a park district at Mokena is being watched with interest by other communities that have parks but no regular income with which to operate them or finance recreation projects. Tinley Park and Frankfort are both in this category and at various times there has been agitation for parks at Orland Park and New Lenox.

Park commissioners serve without compensation but the secretary and treasurer are supposed to be paid officials.

It is expected that the park board will hold its meetings in the Mokena village hall.

In the past, since the land was acquired by the Mokena Civic Association the park was operated under the direction of a board elected by members of the association. Swanberg, Mrs. Niethammer, Carlisle, Omland and Bennett are the last to serve on this board.

Fellow of the International College of Surgeons and a member of the Chicago Medical Society.

He was developing a subdivision at Orland Park but disposed of his interests recently because of his health. He was active in community affairs and besides serving the village as health officer was also a member of the zoning board and the planning commission.

Besides his widow, Henrietta, Dr. Lane is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Marion Stevens, of Orland Park, and Mrs. Dorothy Zude of Tacoma, Wash., three brothers, Delbert W. Lane, of Walla Walla, Wash., Lyle, of Tacoma, Wash., and Morton of Richmond, Cal., and four grandchildren.

Removal was to the Schmaedeke funeral home at Orland Park where services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Robert Plastow, pastor of the Orland Park Methodist church, officiating. Cremation followed at Oakridge Abbey.

Active in Orland Civic Affairs

Dr. Myrven A. Lane, 64, of 14450 Raney's Lane, Orland Park, died last Thursday, June 25, at Englewood hospital, where he was a member of the staff. He had been in ill health for many months.

A native of Delavan, Minn., where he was born Dec. 24, 1894, Dr. Lane had been a resident of Orland Park for many years but maintained offices as a practicing physician and surgeon at 6254 S. Ashland ave., Chicago.

Learn to Swim

Mokena Cub Scouts to Get Lessons

A class in swimming, under the direction of the Red Cross water safety program, is to begin at Mokena next Monday morning, July 6, with Mrs. George H. Bills, in charge. The classes will be held at the private pool at the home of Ervin D. Friant, on Mokena street, near LaPorte rd.

Mrs. Bills has just completed the Red Cross water safety course to renew her certificate as an instructor. The course was conducted at Nowell Park pool at Joliet by Miss Mary Frances Kennedy, director of the water safety program for the Will County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Fifteen men and women took the course.

Last year Mrs. Bills served as swimming instructor for a group of Mokena Cub Scouts. The course was given at Nowell pool. Because of difficulty in arranging transportation, attendance was light.

This year the course is again open to boys of Cub Scout age but with Mr. Friant opening his pool for the lessons it is expected that the enrollment and attendance will be much larger.

"Mr and Mrs. Friant deserve the thanks of the community for their generosity in making their pool available," Mrs. Bills said. We are sure that many more boys will take advantage of this opportunity to learn to swim now that the lessons will be given in Mokena."

Each boy that enrolls is required to have his registration card signed by his parents, giving their permission for him to take the course.

The lessons are to begin Monday morning at 9 o'clock, with the boys reporting at the Friant pool clad in bathing suits. Cub Scout mothers will take turns in supervising the youngsters there for lessons.

Mrs. Bills will be assisted by Marilyn Ambuehl, a Red Cross junior life saver who has just completed her instructor's aide course.

There is no charge for the lessons as the instructors serve on a voluntary basis without remuneration.

Further details may be obtained by calling Mrs. Bills at Mokena 2573.

The classes will be conducted daily, Monday thru Friday, for two weeks.

Let Contract to Complete Paving Francis Road

Now that the laborers' strike in Will county has been settled work on paving and road building contracts let by the county has been started.

On the list of jobs of primary importance to the New Lenox and Mokena areas will be the blacktopping of Francis road, between Mokena and Cedar road, New Lenox, and the Lincoln-Way road, so called because it runs from Francis road south to U. S. 30 along the eastern border of the Lincoln-Way high school property.

Contract for both of these jobs were let to the Trygg Paving Co. of Joliet.

The Francis road contract calls for approximately four miles of blacktop surfacing at a cost of about $72,700. The Lincoln-Way road, which is about a mile and a half in length, will cost approximately $33,250. It will be paved sometime this summer but the starting date has not been fixed.

The base for the Lincoln-Way road was built last summer and will enable high school buses to travel back and forth from Mokena without crossing any railroad tracks. The new road passes under the Rock Island right of way.

When the Francis road section between Mokena and New Lenox is finished it will mark completion of a paved thoroughfare linking Tinley Park with Joliet. The section between Gougar and Cedar roads was blacktopped more than a year ago as was the link between Tinley Park and U. S. 45.

Persons living along the stretch between Mokena and Cedar road will be thankful when the road is paved. It is so dusty now there are times when visibility is zero.

Housewives along this gravel section need shovels instead of dust cloths.

Will County Highway Engineer James McCarthy announced this week that right of way for Maple or Marley road has been acquired. This will be a blacktop road when completed but first it must be widened, graded and a stone base built. As is customary the base will be allowed to stand for a year or two before it is surfaced.

The contract for this road will be let by the state highway department and there is no word yet as to when bids are to be submitted. This road will connect Wolf road, north of Mokena, to U. S. 6 at Marley.

Completion of this Marley road should bring more trade to Mokena, it was believed.

The annual carnival of the Grace Episcopal church, New Lenox, will be held Saturday, July 18. Festivities start at 5 p.m.

Games of skill, including darts, Old Black Joe, milk bottle, fish pond, cane rack, and ring toss should keep the young folks busy and happy. The grownups will enjoy the parcel post sale with its wrapped mysterious packages.

If you want variety and fun be sure to visit the country store. Call this mother's nite out and take the family to the church basement for supper and many good things to eat.

Picnics, Fireworks to Mark Observance in Region Communities

With many business firms and plants closing tomorrow for the Fourth of July weekend the press of traffic is expected to begin tonight and police and safety authorities urge people to be careful.

Last year's three-day holiday over the Fourth took a large number of lives. Fireworks once accounted for most of the accidents and deaths on the Fourth, with drownings running a close race for such grisly honor. But since the automobile, has become common it has taken over as the No. 1 killer on any holiday.

Police at Tinley Park, Orland Park, Mokena, New Lenox and Frankfort are joining with state and county police in cautioning motorists that any and all violations of traffic laws will result in arrests.

With thousands of cars heading for Chicago and other streams of cars coming out of the city and its suburbs bound for other areas in which to celebrate the holiday, the roads are expected to be filled tonight and tomorrow and again on Sunday and Sunday night when the trippers begin their return journeys.

The Chicago Motor club expects 375,000 cars to leave the Chicagoland area sometime over the holiday on trips within a 350 mile radius and carrying over a million persons.

Honor Student Ends Semester At Washington

William T. Heidrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Heidrich, 925 Ogden rd., New Lenox, recently completed the Washington semester program at American University, Washington, D.C.

Heidrich will return to Beloit college in the fall.

Among the highlights of the Washington semester were visits to the White House, the National Science Foundation, the U. S. Information Agency, and the Supreme court.

The Washington semester is a cooperative arrangement between the American university and 79 colleges and universities thruout the country. Honor students from these schools spend a semester of their junior year in Washington studying the federal government in action.

While at the university, each student participates in a full schedule of field trips to various departments of government, business and labor, as well as regular classroom work. The semester is rounded out with an individual research project. The program is administered by the school of government and public administration, under the supervision of Dean Catheryn Seckler Hudson.

Lincoln-Way Offers Free Course To Help Johnny Learn to Read

Two summer sessions are currently meeting at Lincoln-Way community high school. The summer science program directed by Neil Hardy and a remedial reading course directed by Miss Eunice Harra.

Miss Harra's reading course has ten students enrolled. All of the students are pre-high school. Most of them will enter Lincoln-Way next fall.

"We are working in various phases of reading, vocabulary, etc.," explained Miss Harra. The entire program is voluntary and free of tuition. A letter of invitation was sent out to those needing help, but they were not required to attend.

This is the second such extra program for Lincoln-Way. Two years ago Miss Harra conducted a similar class in remedial reading for prospective high school students.

The students came from various parts of the school district with almost every grade school represented.

Class sessions begin at 3:00 and conclude at 11 each morning.

In some cases the students might get by with the reading skills they now possess, but are taking the course for improvement of such skills upon their own request.

Certainly, this kind of thing is needed in American education, if our high school is going to be a real prep school for life and college. This is the kind of effort needed. The Lincoln-Way school board has shown marked foresight in this promotion.

$16,000 Pledged For Addition to Marley Church

A total of $16,000 has been received in pledges for the new addition to the Marley Baptist Community church. Members of the building committee are hopeful that the remaining $2000 needed for the $18,000 goal, will be realized soon.

The proposed 20 by 40 feet concrete block addition, annexed to the south end of the church, will provide classrooms for the Sunday school, pastor's study, new kitchen, new heating system and an enlarged dining room.

Working with Rev. Ray Hammer and Russel Lauffer, chairman of the building committee, are Mrs. Edward Sproat, Mrs. Francis Nelson, Mrs. Loren Saxe, Edward Sproat, Francis Nelson, Harwood Stellwagen and James D. Frazer, honorary advisor.

Subdivision Ord. Goes to Frankfort Board Monday Nite

At a special meeting of the Frankfort village board Monday night, attended by members of the village plan commission and zoning board, the terms of a proposed subdivision ordinance was gone over in detail.

The village zoning ordinance may be amended at the same time it was said, in keeping with recommendations by the planners.

Joyce Scheer and William Hecht Are Wed in Church at Frankfort

The United Church of Christ, Frankfort, was the scene of the wedding of Miss Joyce Scheer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scheer, Monee; and William Hecht, of New Lenox, on June 21. The groom is the son of Wilbert Hecht Sr., and the late Mrs. Hecht, of McHenry.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Erich Bizer.

Palms decorated the church and vases of white carnations graced the altar.

Mrs. Bertha Klepper played appropriate organ music. Arthur Lambrecht was soloist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was lovely in a white nylon sheer gown with short sleeves and fitted bodice embraced with embroidered flower appliques, forming a scoop neckline. The bouffant chapel skirt was scattered with appliques and had a bustle bow worn over a Dior hoop. Her white lace-backed queen's coronet of tiny seed pearls sparkled with iridescents, caught to a fingertip silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white stephanotis centered with two white cymbidiums.

The bride's sister, Barbara Scheer, as maid of honor, wore a mint green embroidered on white organza gown with a green sash forming a large bow in the back. She carried a colonial bouquet of white stephanotis and wore a headpiece of stephanotis and tulles.

The best man was Wilbert Hecht Jr., of McHenry, brother of the groom. The ushers were Milton Batson, Frankfort, cousin of the bride, and Danny Conway, Chicago, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a blue lace dress with matching hat, white accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony, where organ music was played by Donald Young. Serving at the reception were Dona Steen, who poured punch and Dorothy Waldvogel, who poured coffee. Nancy Machmer cut the cake. Refreshments were served by Beverly Case, Phyllis Rosendahl, Sandra Schneider, Georgia Broodrich, Frances Arakawa, and Carol Gardner. Handling the guest book was Lynn Schroeder and Leanne Schroeder and Marion Haakinson opened the gifts.

The bride is an organ instructor at Lyon Healy, Joliet and the groom is a member of the Illinois State police.

The couple are making their home in New Lenox.

The best man was Gerald Goldberg, brother of the groom. Ushers were Gene Penka, of Channahon, and Hubert Teeter of Oak Lawn.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Schwab chose a toast lace sheath gown with chiffon cum berbund and toast and beige accessories. Her corsage was a green orchid.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Goldberg, wore a pink silk acetate gown with white lace cum berbund. Her accessories were white. She wore a deep rose orchid corsage.

Grandparents attending the wedding were Mrs. Esta Neal of Minooka, and Albert

Schwab of Lockport.

A reception for 250 guests was held following the ceremony in the church parlors. The bridal table was covered with a plastic lace table cloth with matching skirt. Pink candles graced the table and the wedding cake was surrounded by huckleberry greens and white carnations.

The young couple motored to Wisconsin for a week and now living in Columbus, Ohio.

The bride was in nurses training before her marriage. The groom is employed as an aeronautical engineer with North American Aviation in Columbus.

Friends who attended to the serving of refreshments, guest book, gifts, cutting the wedding cake, and provided the centerpiece for the bridal table were, Mrs. Alice Neidringhaus and Mrs. Dorothy Tyler, both of Frankfort; Mrs. Carolyn Stafford, Joliet, and the Misses Edna Newell, Ann St. Clair, Marion Johnson, and Joan Magnuson, all of the nursing school at West Suburban hospital, Oak Park.

Stanley Stafford of Joliet, was master of ceremonies at the reception.

HARVEY SAYS:

"TO GET AHEAD...
SAVE NOW..
BUY
LATER!"

REMEMBER the fable about the tortoise and the hare? We're all in a similar race today. Following the hare (no relation to Harvey, the rabbit) are the fast spenders. They spend all they make . . . and even more by buying on credit! And they pay for the credit as well as the merchandise.

The other people take it easy . . . save first (at Harvey Federal Savings, of course) and buy later. They pay cash and Harvey Federal pays them in dividends. No wonder the Harvey Savers get ahead and stay ahead!

But our race isn't against each other . . . it's against Inflation! And you win when you "save now—buy later." Harvey Federal Savings pays you higher-than-average dividends as you save with insured safety. Stop in to open your account or phone EDison 3-2200 for a free Save-By-Mail Kit. Georges Hand Zions First Defeat

Marcotte's Base Knock in Final Inning Turns Trick for 18-17 Win

Ed Marcotte's base hit with two out in the top of the 7th inning handed Zion Lutheran its first defeat for the season and knocked them out of first place. Actually the Holy Name group scored all of its three runs after two were out. It was a 16-15 victory.

The Methodists moved back into a first place tie with Zion by handing the Reformed church a resounding, 18 to 7 drubbing. This was the second loss of the season and came after two straight wins for Reformed. These were Reformed's only two victories of the past two years.

The Nazarenes notched their first league win by beating the St. George Knights, 15-8. The Nazarenes built up a large lead and coasted home for the win.

In the wild swinging and hitting contest, St. George Holy Name battled back from apparent defeat on a couple of occasions to pull the first big upset in the church loop this season.

Zion had a 12-6 lead going into the top of the 5th inning. St. George scored 10 runs in the last three innings to win on the thrilling hit by Marcotte.

Nasebrandt hit a homer in deep left field for Zion and Gunther wacked one for Holy Name in deep right field. T. Propp and Nasebrandt each collected four hits in the losing cause for Zion. St. George outlived Zion 22-18. Just 40 hits in the game.

The Methodists climbed on Reformed early to build up a very fast lead and roll for the win.

Hal Teehan, Elmer Gunther and Jim Bell each collected four safeties for the winning Methodists. The latter rapped out 28 hits in the entire contest—something near a record. Apparently, there were still quite a few Methodists stranded in the contest. Reformed scored its 7 runs on only 4 hits.

This win placed the Methodist back into first place tie with Zion Lutheran.

The Nazarenes hit for 21 basehits, scored 11 runs in the first 3 innings, and tightened up a leaking defense in the last 3 innings to win its first contest. St. George Knights are now without a win at 0-4.

Tom Mortenson hit a solo homer in the third inning into deep right field. Mortenson had two hits in the game.

Tom Cripps blasted a 3-run shot into left center field for the Nazarene team.

Don't be a Fourth of July Statistic

If you are one of those persons who reads highway warning signs or pieces like this and figure they are only for the "other fellow"—be careful.

On the Fourth of July holiday last year accidents killed 655 "other fellows."

Of this number 370 were snuffed out in traffic crashes; 192 drowned and 93 were accounted for in miscellaneous accidents.

And this is something to remember—none of these 655 persons thought that he would be an accident victim. They were convinced that accidents only happened to the "other fellow."

All of us are "other fellows." There may be some persons who are accident prone but none of us immune from accidents.

The only thing that stands between us and a hospital bed or a coroner's inquest is caution and common sense, whether in walking, driving or working.

Like last year's this Fourth will be a three-day week-end for many and the National Safety Council warns that the highways will be jammed. So will parks, beaches, and recreation grounds. Conditions will be ideal for some kind of accident.

If you are driving a sports car or one of the small varieties be extra careful. These cars are hard to see.

Except for the sports models, which go too fast, these small cars do not have too much reserve power and drivers of the like should make certain they have enough space before they start passing moving traffic.

And speaking of passing, there are too many "other fellows," of course, who apparently are unable to judge speed and distance. As a result approaching cars are forced off or knocked off the road.

A lot of "other fellows" that start out on a Fourth of July trip will never complete it. They will be dead. Try not to be one of them.

On Second Thot

by
GLENN F. LOGAN

The Fourth of July was once as eagerly awaited by youngsters as Christmas, and the tension and excitement of anticipation was as great for one as for the other.

Both days began early and both were preceded by days of looking in store windows and show cases at the wondrous offerings for the delectation of youthful shoppers.

From the latter part of May up to and thru July 3, one's thoughts were devoted chiefly to acquiring the fireworks that appeared then to be a necessity for proper celebration of the Fourth.

There probably was a community picnic scheduled which most of the townspeople attended but that came in the afternoon and was a lesser attraction for the young.

The morning—the early morning hours, and the night were the golden periods of the Fourth.

After days of looking and comparing one began building up his cache of fireworks in June. One was on a pay-as-you-go basis and every penny, every nickel, every quarter that one was able to get his fingers on was promptly invested.

Thanks to preliminary shopping tours one didn't hesitate when he came into money. He knew just what the next piece was going to be and just where to find it.

If one were flush, say he had a quarter, he might pick up a box of Yellow Jackets, as a brand of particularly loud salutes were known, or perhaps his fancy ran to the Little Giants, another powerful cracker, red in color and packed with enough powder to blow an empty tomato can 20 feet in the air or tear off a finger—as they sometimes did. What one could have done if turned loose with a $5 bill was a dream every kid had but never realized. There were fewer millionaires those days.

Pennies and nickels went for the small firecrackers, punk caps for cap pistols, and caps for canes. The caps for these canes were different and quite powerful. There was an iron do-jigger at the bottom of the can in which one could insert a cap. The next move was to bang it down on a rock, or a cement sidewalk. This brought about a satisfying explosion, but one had to make sure that the slot in which the cap was placed was pointed away from his legs. Otherwise he might get a powder burn.

Torpedoes were also hard on the legs. One flung them on a hard surface and the resultant explosion scattered the coarse sand or gravel that served as the hammer for the charge, in all directions.

I often yearned for a pistol to shoot blank cartridges but was never allowed to have or fire one. Those wads loosed in firing blanks accounted for numerous serious injuries, including the loss of eyes.

There were many other delightfully lethal pieces that had not received as bad a press as blank pistols which one could have, however.

Besides the noisemakers one also laid in a supply of night fireworks—pin wheels, snakes, roman candles, sky-rockets, cans of powder that burned as red, green or white fire. There were no fireworks displays then, set off by professionals, to entertain the community. A part of the pleasure was in watching one's collection grow and the taking of daily inventories.

Everyone had his own night fireworks and when they were used up one could watch those of his neighbors, who might have had a larger supply or started later than you did.

And of course one saved a few big crackers to liven up the night program with ear-splitting bangs, much to the annoyance of adults who had been assailed all day with noise and alarms and could be described as suffering from battle fatigue.

Skyrockets sometimes hit people in descending or landed on roofs and if not noticed in time probably started a fire, thus adding thrills to a day that was a thrill in itself.

The real firecracker, though, was the balloon. These balloons came in different sizes and were made of colored and striped paper. There was a container filled with cotton or waste that one soaked with either alcohol or kerosene. One ignited the wick that protruded from this gadget and the heat caused the paper bag to expand to a point where, with a little boost, it took off and went sailing majestically up into the night sky.

They were pretty things, those balloons, but quite destructive. A puff of wind might cause the bag to dip or shift and the next moment it was aflame and dropping swiftly to earth. If it landed on the ground or a street no damage was done but if it descended on a roof it meant work for the firemen. There were a lot of such fires.

One of the ambitions of the young in those days was to fire the first cannon cracker on the Fourth. It didn't really count if it was still dark. The ideal time was just at dawn but competition was keen and the result was a volley rather than individual efforts.

As I look back on it adults were on the whole—a very patient lot. I think that one of the attractions for them of the community picnic with bands, speaker and conversation with neighbors was that the affair furnished a different kind of

DENTAL HEALTH

Fluoride Applications

About one-third of the population of the United States lives in small villages and rural areas where a public water supply is not available.

Yet they need not be denied the protection offered children's teeth in other communities where the fluoride content of public drinking water can be adjusted to a desirable level.

The dentist or dental hygienist can provide a certain amount of protection for the teeth by swabbing them with fluorides, the chemical salts of flourine.

A series of four applications are usually given two to seven days apart at ages 3, 7, 10 and 13. The treatments are thus spaced to catch new teeth as they appear.

The theory behind the fluoride treatment is that the growing tooth takes up flourine, a dietary mineral, and incorporates it into a form that makes the enamel more resistant to decay.

Such topical application of sodium fluoride has reduced the appearance of new cavities by as much as 40 per cent among groups of school children.

With water fluoridation and topical application working out so successfully, it was only natural that other ways of incorporating fluorides would be thought of.

There have been proposals, for example, that fluorides be incorporated in milk rather than water.

However, D. R. Sholom Pearlman, assistant secretary of the American Dental Association's Council on Dental Therapeutics, said such a move actually is unnecessary in view of the effectiveness and simplicity of the water fluoridation program.

Since water is used locally in processed foods as well as in cooking and drinking, fluorides are universally consumed, Dr. Pearlman pointed out. If noise, and so rested their ears.

Most of us had exhausted our supply of big noise makers by the time afternoon rolled around and even if it weren't to use them in a crowd was strictly taboo.

Now most states have banned the use or possession of fireworks so the Fourth is quieter, much quieter, but it is still deadly. The automobile can give the biggest cannon crackers in the world cards and spades and still come out a winner when it comes to killing people.

Letters to the Editor

CONCERNED OVER GROWTH THREAT

Dear Sir:

We are gravely concerned over the plans for development of a subdivision east of Mokena with an aim to annexation to Mokena. We are concerned over any explosive burst of population in this area, for the problems of schools and law enforcement plus a bewildering array of other problems stagger our ability to fully comprehend or deal with them.

Many people sincerely oppose industry and they have a right to their opinion. However, the type of industry that might come in can be selected or rejected with less possibility of chaos than an exploding population. Industrial development would be slower, it would bring benefits in the way of tax relief, and rightly selected can be attractive.

There are those who say we must have a labor population here before industry will come. The small plants in the surrounding area employ local people and those who drive from various suburbs and from Chicago, just as our residents drive or take the train to various places of work in and around Chicago.

The proposed subdivision is attractively laid out according to plan but let us picture the 2,000 homes annexed to Mokena with a conservative estimate of one child to each home, over half of them of grade school or high school age. What will happen to our all ready overburdened school system? To say they will pay their way in taxes is too ridiculous to consider. Any one who knows the cost of education, cost of law enforcement, cost of maintenance, and infinitum fully realizes the impact of what lies ahead for us if we approve this project. It is as the Mokena would give birth to a baby twice her size. It would be the death of her.

An orderly growth, a gradual growth is much to be desired. Only in that way can some selection and regulation be made as to the types and kinds of people who may come to this area. The developers mentioned multiple rental units to be built along the railroad tracks. We should give all of these proposals much long and sober thought.

Those who own the land surrounding us realize, of course, that their land holdings will not lose value but will increase in value as time goes on. The southwest area of metropolitan Chicago has just about the only open area left. The residential and industrial push is on its way to us. Let us not be stampeded into hasty action that may blight our entire area for all time to come. And we should not oppose industrial development until we study its advantages with the realization that we can choose and regulate an industry more readily than we can cope with a sprawling residential annexation that can only raise our taxes to a frightening degree and bring only limited, if any benefits.

This is the time for long and thoughtful consideration of all the factors involved, a time to listen carefully to all the arguments for and against the uses of land adjoining us. Most of us would prefer to keep things pretty much as they are but that appears to be impossible.

Might we suggest a thoro airing of the whole matter in a public meeting and thru our local newspaper with a view to putting the matter up to the people of Mokena concerning their wish to annex this subdivision by the holding of an election. They will assume the responsibility of the maintenance of the new area and, with others thru out the school district, the responsibility for new schools and maintaining them. If the majority are in favor of this step then the matter will be settled.

In the meantime let us proceed slowly. There is no need for haste at this point. We have much to lose and little to gain.

Police to Enforce Traffic Laws In Red Alert Over 3-Day Holiday

By DELORES ANDERSON
New Lenox 3651

Police Chief George Kennedy said today the New Lenox police department will join forces with state and county authorities during the July 4th holiday in a full scale crackdown on traffic law violators.

Chief Kennedy said his men and equipment will be on patrol constantly during the 54-hour holiday watching for violators who endanger the lives and property of other drivers.

State and county police also will be out in full force to round out a statewide program of strict traffic law enforcement.

Governor William G. Stratton's Condition Red alert will be in effect throughout the state during the holiday to dramatize the extreme danger in driving over the weekend.

The alert also will serve notice to motorists that enforcement agencies throughout the state have started their stern enforcement measures.

"Traffic violators in New Lenox can expect no leniency from my officers," Chief Kennedy said. "I have instructed the men to dispense with any practice of issuing warning tickets and to arrest violators on the spot."

"I'm convinced that the best way to cut down on holiday traffic accidents is to apprehend careless drivers before they get themselves involved in a situation they can't cope with," the chief declared.

The very active Parents' club of St. Jude's, scored another success Sunday with a gay, carnival picnic for the school children and their families. Over 180 parents and children turned out for the event on the church grounds and brought along picnic baskets for supper.

Balloon ladies with dozens of beautiful pastel balloons, big pink cones of cotton candy a ferris wheel and kiddycar ride were just a few of the many attractions to make young hearts dance. There were big jars of mouthwatering candy for the lucky ones who could guess their numerical content, an interesting mountain of sawdust that contained coins for the finders, games and prizes, and of course, plenty of pop—all free!

Winners in the races were David Nolan, John Clemens, Norman Beebe, Butch Georgis Muriel Hoover, Christine Murky, Bill Petyko, Jack Miller, Danny Miller, Greg Gonda, Maureen Glester, Claudia Sider, Susan Petyko, Deanna Sims and Dale Brent. The hoola hoop contest ended in a tie and duplicate prizes had to be awarded to Donald Hansen and Patricia Cruise.

Arrangements for the picnic were made by Gene Schubert, Mrs. Martin Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Batson and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clemens. The picnic winds up activities for the Parents' club until the school year begins in September.

Thirty two students of the Minuth School of Dance won 2nd place in the Junior Marching division at the Manhattan Homecoming Sunday. Twenty-four of the group did a dance march, and eight twirled batons.

A group of the younger students, under twelve years of age, will march in the holiday childrens, kiddie parade, at Frankfort on July 5, starting at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Minuth's summer term for dance students starts July 8th.

The Misses Karen Braun and Judy Henry are vacationing this week in Jackson, Mich. with Karen's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Osmus.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Osmus made a trip to Bancroft, Iowa over the weekend to attend the wedding and reception of Miss Helen Renger and William Koppen, on June 27.

Miss Renger is a niece of Mrs. Gordon Osmus. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Osmus and family also made the trip. Miss Jacquie Osmus, daughter of the Gordon Osmus, was maid of honor at the wedding, while her brother, Gordon Osmus, Jr. was one of the servers assisting at the wedding mass.

The Ed Osmus' returned home on Sunday, and the Gordon Osmus family will remain for a week's vacation with relatives there.

Lincoln-Way Band met for the first of its summer meetings Wednesday, June 24. A game of softball was held early in the evening, with the band boosters annual family potluck following. Dick Hammond the new band president, awarded pins to the 1958-59 officers of the Band Boosters from the band.

The band and Band Boosters held separate meetings. The band discussed their summer plans which at this time are incomplete. The next meeting, a rehearsal meeting, and further discussion of summer plans, will be held Tuesday night, June 30, at 8 p.m. in the school.

The new 1958-59 officers of the band, who began their services at the potluck supper are: Dick Hammond, president; Shirley Seivert, vice president; Sharyn Jedlick, secretary; Gene Cline, treasurer; Lois Shuter, reporter; and Penny Fiegen, head librarian.

For the second year, chorus students from Lincoln-Way High school attended Eastern Illinois Music Camp in Charleston. A week of singing and fun was enjoyed. The following girls from New Lenox attended the camp: Barbara Batkin, Jane Berlin, Sue Blomquist, Karen Braun, Merry Lee Collatz, Virginia Feil, Gail Gregory, Pamela Plus, Carol Spector, Sharon Vally, and Jane Wood. Such activities as a violin concert, square dancing, a semi-formal dance and movies were the night activities.

The girls lived on the campus, in the new dormitories and used all campus buildings during their stay, June 14 to 21.

The families picked up the girls June 21, and also attended the chorus concert that afternoon, before returning home.

A 2c Gordon Ekedahl has been promoted to A 1-c, at Fairchild Air Force Base in Spokane, Wash. in radar and electronics. Gordon also flies with the refueling squadron there.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ekedahl and daughter Leslie Ekedahl, have returned home from a two weeks 6,000 mile vacation trip out west. They visited the Bandlands and Black Hills, then motored to Spokane, Wash. where they met their son A 1-c Gordon Ekedahl, who vacationed with them for a week. They visited with friends at Enunclaw, Wash. then camped out at Mt. Ranier for a few days, visited Grand Coulee Dam; Glacier Park in Montana, then returned to Spokane with Gordon where they spent a couple of days. They returned home thru Yellowstone National Park, and the Tetons.

By WILLIAM F. WHITESIDE
Cook Co. Ass't Farm Adviser

Audrey Mascitti, of the Clover 4-H club in Steger, was the recipient of one of the highest honors available in 4-H club work in the U.S. She was one of the four Illinois delegates to the 1959 National 4-H conference in Washington D. C. The 1959 conference was the first group to use the new National 4-H center in Chevy Chase, Md. Everyone associated with 4-H work in Cook county is very proud of the achievements of Audrey Mascitti. Audrey will report on her trip to the National 4-H conference, on July 14 at the 4-H federation meeting to be held at 8 p.m. in the Tinley Park Farm Bureau building.

I would like to mention three other important 4-H events coming up very soon. These are: the 4-H Demonstration contest on July 7, at 8 p.m., in the Tinley Park Farm Bureau building; the South Cook Keeping-Fit Field Day, on July 14, starting at 9:30 a.m., at the Bert Fulton school, 171st st. just east of Oak Park ave., Tinley Park; and the 4-H Public Speaking contest, July 14 at 8 p.m., at the Tinley Park Farm Bureau bldg.

Many farm people have been wondering what has happened to the oat crop in southern Cook county. It is dying of a rather new virus disease, known as Yellow Dwarf. The late planted fields and those fields low in fertility, are the hardest hit. The disease is spread by aphids, which inoculate the plants with the virus. Symptoms of the disease appear in oats about 14 days after inoculation. Nothing can be done about the situation right now. It seems certain there will be a drastic reduction in the number of bushels of oats produced in the county this year. No known resistant varieties are available at this time.

There is a possibility of chinch bug damage in these oat fields and subsequent migration to nearby corn fields.

Migration into the corn fields can be prevented by spraying Dieldrin at the rate of 1/2 lb. per acre along the margins of the grain fields and the corn field. Do this as soon as you notice any migration and spray into the corn field as far as chinch bugs have advanced.

Several farmers in this area took advantage of the University of Illinois Agronomy day, and visited the south farm at the university. Henry Dahl, Carl Engelhardt, Wm. Keuch, and Charles Vogt, all of Tinley Park, and Herb Kohl, of Matteson, were among the 2,000 visitors to the Agronomy Day. Some of the highlights of Agronomy Day included research work in disease resistant soybean varieties, wheat varieties, and oat varieties, soil fertility studies, width of planting soybeans, and in chemicals for weed control. Reports of last year's tests with row spacing of soybeans, show that 24 inch rows and early May planting produced the highest yields. 24-in. rows had a five bushel advantage over the conventional 40 inch spacings.

46th wedding anniversary at a family gathering in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Holeman, in Midlothian. Potluck supper was served to 34 guests, which included their 18 grandchildren. A large wedding cake centered the table from which the meal was served buffet style. The couple received many nice gifts and their many friends wish them a lot more happy anniversaries.

The next one will be held July 9, beginning at 9 p.m. These parties are sponsored by the school club for the benefit of 7th and 8th grade and high school young people from this district. A dance instructor is in attendance. This season's chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Moravec.

Jerome Boyce and son Walter are enjoying an extended motor trip to the western states.

Dennis Simpson, who narrowly escaped death when earth slid onto him as he worked in an excavation at Bonnie Brae last Tuesday, has returned to his home after several days' hospitalization. He is recovering from abrasions and shock.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leffler and children of Towson, N.J. visited his aunt, Mrs. F. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burch, the Eugene and Bruce Anderson families, the Ray Carlsons and Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson attended the wedding of Nan Vancil and Corwin Biddle at Downers Grove Saturday, June 20 at the First Presbyterian church. Community Center Foundation Opens Farm Camp for Children

The Community Center Foundation farm camp for children 7 to 11 years of age opened for the first camping period June 28. Now in its 21st year of camping, the Foundation has specialized in providing experience for 12 boys and 12 girls during each period. In order to provide personal guidance and individual development the camp is under the direction of six trained camp counselors.

Director this year will be William Hawk of Chadron, Nebr. He is a graduate of Yankton college of South Dakota and at present is studying for an advanced degree at the Chicago Theological seminary. He has had experience as a counselor and for the past several years he has directed inter-denominational camps for young people. The counselors are trained in youth work.

The camp is located on the 60 acre grounds of the Foundation on Southwest highway at 127th st. Open prairies, native woodlands and farm fields provide ample space for a wide range of activities. A special feature is the completely stocked farm where campers may become acquainted with the care and habits of farm animals. Horse back riding, swimming, fishing, forest lore, hiking, sports of all kinds and a large choice of handicraft arts are included in the program of activities.

The central theme is planned around authentic legends and ceremonies of the four Indian tribes who once lived in this area. At the opening of each period, campers are initiated into one of these tribes at an impressive ceremony held on the actual site of a Potawatomi village in the early 1800s.

The Foundation announces that there are still a few openings in each period for both boys and girls. These will start at two week intervals thruout the summer. The dates for the next camps are July 12, July 26 and Aug. 9.

Business and Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

For several months this column has expressed doubt that there will be a steel strike and that if one does occur, that it will be a strike in form only. Likelihood has been that the union leaders would have much sound and fury for the benefit of union members and their political position within the union with end results nominal.

The wage advances in the steel industry have been greater over the last 10 years than advances in productivity on a per man hour basis. This gap between productivity and total wage costs (including so called fringe benefits) has been pushing prices higher and higher. Union leaders are well aware of this inflationary pressure. Union leaders are also well aware of the fact that only about 25 per cent of the labor force are unionized altho inflationary results must be paid by the whole population. Political leaders are sensitive to the growing complaints of the unorganized majority against inflationary wage increases which press against the whole price structure. Steel price increases have a wide effect on prices.

It would be comforting to believe that political speeches pointing out the price index has been held in check, are accurate. However, there has been a steady mounting of the cost of non-food prices for months. Labor costs have been rising steadily in many segments of industry. Food costs will be adjusted upward and price index reach another new high.

For reasons too numerous to discuss here, leading authorities believe that the constant erosion of purchasing power is something we will have to learn to live with. The political forces which would be required to bring this constant erosion into exact balance and control, are not likely to exist. Best we can hope for is reduction of the rate of erosion of purchasing power.

The trend of investment in common stock rather than fixed dollar obligations, is a condition that was slowly but steadily developing over the years. The small investor was more or less limited in his investment vehicles, to the fixed dollar savings. Advent of the Mutual Funds with Profit Sharing plans and employee-stock purchase plans brought greater interest and understanding of the value of actual ownership rather than fixed dollar savings.

Mutual Funds which offer small investors participation in a widely diversified list of common stocks of the leading firms have had a sensational increase since 1940. The 1959 edition of Arthur Weisenberger & Company Investment Companies, reports that mutual fund holdings have increased 2,800 per cent since 1940. This annual edition has recently been received and gives pertinent data on the performance of various of the mutual funds for comparison over ten year periods.

Following the Federal Reserve's increase in interest rates, the utility common stocks reacted to lower levels on the basis of need for large amounts of borrowed funds. Average utility common stock is now 7 percent below the 1959 high. Utility common stocks have defensive characteristics as well as considerable growth potential. In 1958 when corporate profits dropped an average of 18 per cent, electric utility firms showed an earnings gain of 7 per cent. For the first four months of 1959, the average earnings gain is about 10 per cent.
